

Dear Year 13 Students, Parents and Carers

You may be aware that information was released this afternoon about the process that will be used by exam boards to calculate students' results in their subjects this summer, along with details of additional mechanisms in place for students who do not agree with the grades they are awarded to take exams in due course. A link to this information follows below and we are awaiting further guidance from exam boards as to the detail of what will be asked of teachers to support this process. We will update you with any relevant information once we have it. In the meantime, thank you for the patience and resilience you have shown in dealing with the announcements of the last few days and we will be in contact once we have further detail.
